

Greetings in this season of anticipation and expectation of summer's eventual return! We all know summer fun will soon come, and we are thinking of how great that will be for all ages.

We want to get an early start on thinking of the summer 2012 season by asking that you keep this in mind and share it with your staff and groups planning to use your facilities. Check out the great curriculum here: <http://www.kids2kidsmissions.org/>

Blessings in your busy planning season. Please let me know how we as Global Ministries can be helpful in meeting your program needs and interests. Jan Aerie

Include Global Ministries in your Vacation Bible School and Summer Camp Programs <http://www.kids2kidsmissions.org/>

Whether you are ready for VBS and/or camp and could start tomorrow, or if you are trying to ignore the fact that summer and summer church programming will come again before we know it, Global Ministries invites you to include a global perspective in your summer's programming.

Ready to go tomorrow? Can we supplement your materials with "Placemaps" showing where UCC and Disciples partners are in work around the world (with kids activities included on the back)? Or maybe you'll be talking about another country or culture and could use an overview of the country, recipes or information on global church partners there....

Still looking for inspiration? The Global Ministries website offers three free curricula for download! Did we mention the "FREE" part? Check them out. And the offer still stands for "placemaps," recipes, country information, and information on global church partners.

Visit our website to download curricula and for additional ideas for youth and children's programming: <http://globalministries.org/resources/youth-and-children/>

To request materials or for additional information, contact Sarah Riester in the Global Ministries Resource Development Office - (317) 713-2564 or sriester@dom.disciples.org.